

Super Rugby has been revamped in 2011!

The new format features a longer season (February through July), meaning more games during winter. Additionally, the competition is conference based, with the Five Australian teams playing each other in a series of home and away games before finals against qualifiers from New Zealand and South Africa.

So with more matches, more big local derbies and more games during winter, scarves and beanies will fly out the door. Don't miss out!
